Lowe Industries Launches New Line of American-Made Pasta Dough Mixing Machines

Marion, Iowa, January 23, 2009 – Lowe Industries launches a new line of custom designed pasta dough mixers for both dry and fresh pasta dough applications. Our new innovative agitator design provides shorter mix times, increased production reliability and faster dough development with a reduction in energy consumption. Adjustable and replaceable paddles provide low maintenance. This mixer is designed for smaller batch sizes, and ideal for specialty pasta manufacturing operations.

Another benefit of our new pasta dough mixer is that it is US-engineered, sold and serviced. Domestically this eliminates the shipping, currency and communication barriers of comparable Italian-made machines. Lowe personnel have extensive experience and knowledge in the food processing industry with 1000's of successful applications.
